Classified Staff Receive Voting Rights

History was made on October 8th, when for the first time in the University Senate the three Classified Staff Representatives were able to vote. For over seven years, Classified Staff worked to change their status on the University Senate, the governing body of the University, from "participants" to full voting members. The vote last spring to make Classified Staff full voting members gave all the stakeholders on the UO Senate equal voting power for the first time in seven years.

The University Senate holds meetings once a month. These meetings are open to the public. Agendas and meeting notes are available online at http://www.uoregon.edu/~uosenate/senate.html
